

A European accredited PhD at the German University Institute
“Wilhelm von Humboldt”

Guinea-Bissau, West Africa

WILHELM V.
HUMBOLDT
UNIVERSITY INSTITUTE

The German University Institute “Wilhelm von Humboldt”

Wilhelm von Humboldt (1767 - 1835),
German Statesman and Founder of Berlin University

Wilhelm von Humboldt (1767 - 1835) was a German statesman and founder of the Berlin University.

The WvH-Institute is officially part of the Universidade Amílcar Cabral, the national university of Guinea-Bissau.

It aims to become an international well-known research institute, combining theory and practice, working scientifically and practically in the developing country of Guinea-Bissau.

- We maintain close links with German, Portuguese and Brazilian universities
- We focus on social and economic analysis in emerging economies and green investment
- We are committed to a sustainable and diverse future
- In particular, we aim to contribute to the following Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs):

Visit us at: www.uac-wvh.org

Why do your PhD with us?

- We are a German university institute with European accreditation
- Our doctoral program is available for full-time study (3 years) or for part-time study (4 to 5 years)
- We realize high-level research with strong practical relevance: from the idea to the result
- We help you with a high-quality publication of your doctoral dissertation
- You will gain access to markets and entrepreneurship, also in West Africa
- You will experience flexibility in an international and intercultural environment.
- You will come in contact with international collaborators and supervisors
- You will have the opportunity to teach both in presence and online

We respond promptly to your questions

- within 24 hours for emails
- within 2 weeks for a review of drafts
- within 6 weeks for a final evaluation

Multilingual supervision: English, Portuguese, German, French, Spanish

Our core research areas

- General Economics
- Psychology
- Consulting and Management
- Tourism and Sports Events
- Health Management

What will you experience and learn?

- Sound scientific practice
- Intercultural management
- Leadership skills
- Project management experience
- Learning and working in a dynamic socio-economic environment
- The people and the beauty of Guinea-Bissau

Our approach

- Online and offline teaching and supervision: real distance learning
- Research approaches and scientific writing
- Qualitative and quantitative methods
- Statistical methods
- Interdisciplinary research
- Communication of your results
- International peer-reviewed publications
- Intercultural studies
- High impact research
- Practical application of your work

Two tracks

- Full-time, with presence in the country, 3 years
- Professional, completely remote with presence optional, 4-5 years

There is a mandatory participation once a year in our annual meetings with teaching sessions, PhD colloquia and interim presentations of the respective research status, etc., either on site at our Institute in Guinea-Bissau or live online.

Formal requirements for your application

- Bachelor's and Master's degree with an equivalent total of 300 ECTS
- Curriculum Vitae
- Your letter of motivation
- Your first research proposal draft

Important aspects

- You will get an interview within two weeks
- Decision on admissions to the program within four weeks after receipt of your application
- Start immediately after your admission
- You will get your individual study plan
- Workload: 180 ECTS (equivalent to three years of full-time study)

Fees (as of October 2022)

- Enrollment fee: EUR 1,350 / USD 1,500
- Annual fees: EUR 7,750 / USD 8,500 (full-time, 3 years)
- Annual fee of EUR 4,650 / USD 5,100 (professional, 5 years)
- Examination fee: EUR 1,750 / USD 2,000

Professor Bernd Glazinski, PhD MA

Founder and Director Psychologist, doctorate on
Wilhelm von Humboldt

For more than 20 years professor in Germany with focus on human resource and organizational development as well as entrepreneurship

30 years of national and international activities, coaching and consulting for large German companies

Professor Konrad Obermann, MD PhD

Founder
Physician and economist Wide-ranging experience in clinical practice, consulting and teaching

More than 20 years of international consulting for governments and international institutions

Author of the textbook
"Medical Economics" (2022)

Contact

www.uac-wvh.org

Office Bissau

+245 969097437 (Mobile / WhatsApp Prof. Glazinski)

Office Germany

+49 175 6393110 (Mobile / Telegram Prof. Obermann)
ko@uac-wvh.org (Email Prof. Obermann)